Aims

This module aims to give students an understanding of some of the theoretical and practical applications relevant to the management of people and their behaviour in organisations. It looks at work psychology underpinning management theory and introduces students to the role of the manager and leader, the management process and contemporary management practice.

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

- 1 Explain the role of theory in managing and organising people at work.
- 2 Understand how groups and teams work effectively.
- 3 Understand management in contemporary contexts.
- 4 Use knowledge of individual differences to motivate and manage people to deliver organizational performance.
