Learning Outcomes

Code	Number	Description
MLO1	1	Employ technical skills associated with factual filmmaking
MLO2	2	Employ basic competencies in research, planning, filming and editing for factual film.
MLO3	3	To critically reflect on personal development in terms of practical work and evaluate performance within a factual film production.

Module Content

Outline Syllabus	Students will acquire knowledge of basic practical filmmaking skills through a series of practical workshops, screenings and group tutorials. Students will also be introduced to the basic principles of pre-production planning and organisation, including developing storyboards, shooting scripts, risk assessments and production schedules in relation to factual filmmaking.
Module Overview	This module will introduce you to the basic principles of factual filmmaking. You will be introduced to the organisation, planning and production of factual film to be able to critically reflect your own factual filmmaking.
Additional Information	This module focuses on acquiring specific practical filmmaking skills associated with factual filmmaking. Students produce a location profile, which aims to capture and document a specific place. Students will produce a 1000 word critical reflection, which assesses their critical engagement with the factual project.
