Aims

Public Law is basically concerned with the law and politics governing the relations between the various institutions of the UK State, such as Parliament, the judiciary and the Government. It also examines the relations, legal and otherwise between the citizen and the State. It examines notions of constitutionalism and enquires into how we can speak of Constitutional law in the UK by reference to principles such as Parliamentary Sovereignty and the Rule of Law. It then investigates how the Government, or Executive, administers the UK State and also considers the effect this has on us as individual citizens and considers the differing methods, political, administrative and legal, of holding the Executive to account.

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

- 1 Demonstrate an awareness of and an ability to explain the main institutions of the constitutional framework of government in England and Wales such as Parliament and the Executive and show an understanding of their role in Public Law by for example examining different ideas of Parliamentary Sovereignty and Administrative Law.
- 2 Demonstrate an awareness and depth of contextual understanding of the main policy and doctrinal issues involved in the development and operation of Public Law by, for example, showing an understanding of the notion of the Rule of Law, the effects of the Human Rights Act 1998 and the nature of civil liberties in England and Wales, and the role of the Ombudsman and tribunal system.
- 3 Demonstrate a firm grounding and knowledge of the major concepts, values, principles and rules of Public Law in the UK including the effects of membership of the European Union, the operation of ministerial responsibility and the theory and practice of Judicial Review.
- 4 Demonstrate a basic ability to identify accurately research issues, identify and retrieve up-to-date legal information, both primary and secondary, using both paper and electronic sources in the preparation and writing of their written essay assessment.
