Aims

This module introduces students to the functions and processes of sport development and provides an overview of organised sports provision in the UK. Students will learn how sport is structured, governed, funded and managed by key organisations and explore how the industry can be improved. Students will consider current agendas and policies influencing sport in the UK whilst considering how personal, social, economic and political factors impact on the process of sport development.

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

- 1 Understand sport development and its key concepts and functions
- 2 Outline the current agendas and policies influencing sport in the UK
- 3 Consider the various factors that impact on UK sport development
- 4 Review the role of the public, private and voluntary sector in sport development

Learning Outcomes of Assessments

The assessment item list is assessed via the learning outcomes listed:

Outline Syllabus

Within the module, students will consider current agendas and policies influencing sport in the UK whilst considering how personal, social, economic and political factors impact on the process of sport development. Students will also explore the role of the public, private and voluntary sectors in sport development and how these sectors can impact on participation and performance. Specific case studies will be used to highlight sport development initiatives.

Learning Activities

This module will be delivered by means of lectures, seminars, guest speakers, educational visits, and student centred learning. Lectures will be used to develop and strengthen students theoretical and practical knowledge as well as their capability to work independently; this will be reinforced independent learning.

Notes

The module is designed to provide students with the basic knowledge and understanding of sport development in order to prepare students for Level 5 learning. Students will be assessed through written report and group presentation.
