Aims

This module aims to provide students with the relevant skills to identify select and assess the effectiveness of a range of environmental health interventions and enforcement options – focusing on the key Environmental Health areas of food and health and safety

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

- 1 Interpret the relevant legislation, including codes of practice, policies and strategies at National and European level.
- 2 Appraise the factors which influence the investigation and enforcement in relation to food safety and health and safety.
- 3 Identify the key principles associated with food safety and health and safety and articulate their contribution to environmental health

Learning Outcomes of Assessments

The assessment item list is assessed via the learning outcomes listed:

food safety essay	1	2	3
h and s essay	1	2	3

Outline Syllabus

The module will consider the major issues identified with both food safety and health and safety: risk and risk assessments; HACCP; food borne illnesses; accident investigations The role of the Environmental Health Practitioner will be examined in relation to the interpretation and application of legislation, including inspection techniques and enforcement powers

Learning Activities

A series of informal 'broken lecture' sessions and group work in which key issues are examined and field trips. Blackboard and guided reading, including appropriate websites

Notes

This module allows students to explore and assess the range of interventions and enforcement options that are available to EHPs, in particular those relating to food safety and health and safety. The module considers the legislation and main issues associated with these key intervention areas and the role of the EHP around them.

Please note that students must pass all assessment components to pass this module
