Aims

To explore the historical development of public and charitable/voluntary sectors including the Welfare state; NHS; Social Services, and the Voluntary sector and how they have impacted on the health of the community. Explore how research has informed policy development in relation to improving the health of people in the UK.

To evaluate how housing policy has developed in relation to societal needs and constraints and explore the important role housing plays in ensuring a 'healthy' society.

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

- 1 Develop knowledge of the ways in which the housing of individuals and families within the community have evolved since the 19th Century.
- 2 Critically examine the rights and access to social housing.
- 3 Consider how housing quality, local environment and socio-economic circumstances may impact on 'health' of the community.
