Lectures, Seminars and Workshops

Notes

This course introduces students to the context in which modern human rights developed. It traces the development of human rights in the 17 century to post WW11.

It also introduces students to the creation of the international Bill of Rights and the implications of this for the individual subject in International Law.

The course also introduces students to the current debates in Human Rights and places these topics in their political context.

This course should give students an understanding of how law develops in response to human conflict.
