Notes

The students(in small groups) will be encouraged to identify a science based health issue which is of interest to the group and that they can interrogate within this module. Each week the students will, using PBL strategies, identify elements of the issue which they will explore that week. Each student will then feedback to the group the information they have gathered. This will enable the student to build up a body of knowledge to facilitate the student to contribute to a group presentation.

The assessment task requires students to write a group paper related to what they presented to the group. Students will peer review and mark others contributions to the goup paper. The group will be expected to take minutes of their meetings.
