Learning Activities

Lectures, seminars, fieldwork, studyir visits, tutorials, self-directed study

Notes

The module builds upon fieldwork experiences at Level 1 to introduce students to a more focused study of the issues of planning and policy. The module will be built around a series of case-studies of tourism development, management and issues relating to social, cultural, economic and environmental factors. Students will work in groups to identify project opportunities and to arrange fieldwork in consultation with the module leader. The focus on planning and policy is further realised through a series of preparatory lectures which help students to generate research proposals, project designs and informed evaluations. Evidence from this module may contribute to WoW certification.
