Aims

To give the students the opportunity to independently undertake an academic project on sound technological principles and intellectual reasoning. To integrate knowledge and skills developed in the subject areas, organizing work within a specified time frame and presenting the findings in both written and oral form

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

- 1 Plan a programme of project work with a clear set of aims and objectives
- 2 Prepare and deliver a seminar paper based on the initial stages of research undertaken
- 3 Organise and coordinate the resources at their disposal to achieve the project aims, including liaison with outside organisations.
- 4 Demonstrate their ability to learn new skills, acquire new knowledge, adapt current skills and knowledge and apply them to specific outcomes in a self-directed mode of learning.
- 5 Produce a written dissertation in accordance with detailed guidelines on presentation and referencing
- 6 Defend the completed research work and its conclusions in a viva voce examination

Learning Outcomes of Assessments

The assessment item list is assessed via the learning outcomes listed:

CW	3	4	5
CW	6

Outline Syllabus

There is no specific syllabus; however, the following items should be addressed during the programme of study:

Selection of project and rationale for choice: identification of project objectives and programme, planning and scheduling of project tasks, relationship with previous research in the subject area.

Project progress: Adherence to schedule, regular meetings with nominated supervisor.

Deliverables: Seminar presentation of aims and early findings in semester 1; preparation and submission of a bound dissertation of 8,000-12,000 words; viva voce examination at end of project.

Learning Activities

Self directed with supervisor support

Notes

The module requires the student to select a topic from the marine or marine related industry, to research it to an appropriate level and to present it in a formal academic manner
