Liverpool John Moores University

| Title:                   | Tales of the Market: Capitalism and Critique |
|--------------------------|--|
| Status:                  | Definitive                                   |
| Code:                    | 6043ENGLIS (119369)                   |
| Version Start Date:      | 01-08-2019                                   |
| Owning School/Faculty:   | Humanities and Social Science                |
| Teaching School/Faculty: | Humanities and Social Science                |

| Team        | Leader |
|-------------|--------|
| Ross Dawson | Y      |

| AcademicLevel:          | FHEQ6 | CreditValue:  | 24  | TotalDeliveredHours: | 57 |
|-----------------------------|-------|-------------------|-----|------------------------------|----|
| TotalLearningHours: | 240   | PrivateStudy: | 183 |                              |    |

Delivery Options

Course typically offered: Standard Year Long

| Component | Contact Hours |
|-----------|---------------|
| Lecture   | 13            |
| Online    | 16            |
| Seminar   | 26            |
| Tutorial  | 2             |

Grading Basis: 40 %

Assessment Details

| Category   | ShortDescription | Description           | Weighting(%) | ExamDuration |
|------------|----------------------|-----------------------|------------------|------------------|
| Reflection | ref                  | reflection 2000 words | 40               |                  |
| Essay      | essay                | essay 2500 words      | 60               |                  |

Aims

1) To introduce students to narratives of capitalism in fiction and non-fiction.

2) To develop an interdisciplinary knowledge of the key concepts of capitalist critique and examine their relevance in making sense of significant cultural texts.

3) To critically read the desires, contradictions and failures of the market through significant cultural texts.

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

- 1 Make sense of different types of narratives of capitalism using an appropriate critical vocabulary.
- 2 Analyse and evaluate a range of key concepts and ideas relating to modern capitalism.
- 3 Generate ideas through close readings of the cultural, aesthetic, and political components of specific tales of the market.

Learning Outcomes of Assessments

The assessment item list is assessed via the learning outcomes listed:

| Reflection | 1 |   |
|------------|---|---|
| Essay      | 2 | 3 |

Outline Syllabus

Week 1 Capitalism and Culture: Making Sense of the Market The Constraints of the Market Week 2 Market Capitalism and Success Narrative: Sinclair Lewis Babbit Week 3 Self Presentation and the Market: Babbit The Critiques of the Market Week 4 Market Satire Week 5: Reading Capitalism Aesthetically: key concepts The Pleasures of the Market Week 7: Narratives of Late Capitalism: Vikram Seth The Golden Gate Week 8: Capitalism and Desire: Vikram Seth The Golden Gate The Failures of the Market Week 9: Capitalism and Individual Crisis: Jonathan Frant Week 10: Capitalist Realism: Freedom Week 11: Market Crisis: Michael Lewis The Big Short

Learning Activities

Lectures, Seminars, Blog Discussion.

Notes

Tales of the Market focuses on the ways in which texts represent, narrate, aestheticize, and critique capitalism. The fears and desires of capitalism will be explored through compelling modern literature such as Babbit by Sinclair Lewis and Money by Martin Amis, and contemporary accounts of "boom and bust" like Michael Lewis's The Big Short. In addition, students will be introduced to scholarly critiques of capitalism such as David Harvey's The Enigma of Capital. The texts studied will be nominally organised around narratives of 20th/21st Century America.