Aims and Outcomes

Aims	To enable students to measure and evaluate the impact of their actions. The module will encourage the collation of evidence to measure the impact of policing interventions. The module will see students interpreting the evaluation and choosing the appropriate policy and tactical recommendations that the evidence assessment identifies.

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

Code	Description
MLO1	Choose the appropriate data and qualitative evidence collection techniques to demonstrate the impact of the policing intervention.
MLO2	Select, gather and interpret the information and data collected to facilitate the effective measurement of the value of all aspects of the policing intervention against the stated aims.
MLO3	Critically evaluate all inputs into the policing intervention and demonstrate the outcomes achieved.

MLO4	Clearly and concisely communicate the impact that the policing intervention achieved internally and externally.
MLO5	Assess the implications of the evaluation for future problem solving and propose new solutions.

Module Overview

Additional Information
Lectures will provide the students with information and theories. Students will utilise their learning about evidence-based policing to evaluate and communicate the learning from their policing operations. Students will evaluate the evidence they have collated and produce an evaluation report and present the lessons learned and benefits. Students will also explore their communication skills by identifying the most appropriate way to communicate the outcomes to their community and internally to their force. This module outline must be read in conjunction with the module appendix and mapping spreadsheet, which details the National Policing Curriculum (NPC) content areas, learning outcomes and minimum content relating to each of the module learning outcomes, which can be found on the Module Key Information tab on Canvas.
