Aims

This module presents an overview of what workforce diversity is and its relevance and usefulness in improving our understanding and management of people at work. The demographics of the population and the workplace are changing drastically because of a number of factors, such as an increasing number of ethnic minorities and women in the workforce and in management. Accordingly, there is a need to critically understand and manage workforce diversity not only to increase organisational business outcomes but also to create an inclusive workplace in a socially responsible manner.

The module will examine issues confronting managers of a diverse workforce. In particular, issues such as ethnicity, race, language, ageing, disability, gender, and intersectional identities will be discussed. Two key approaches to managing diversity will be explained, i.e. the social equity case of managing diversity, and the business benefits case of managing diversity. The module will explore a range of diversity related concepts and topics, such as social identity, stereotyping, discrimination, intergroup conflict, structural integration, and inclusion.

Learning Outcomes

After completing the module the student should be able to:

- 1 Demonstrate an understanding of the current research and issues related to equality, diversity and inclusion in organisations.
- 2 Critically evaluate a wide range of recognised techniques in and approaches to diversity management in an international context.
- 3 Distinguish between individual, organisational, and societal dimensions of issues and interventions
- 4 Identify organisational factors that hinder and those that promote diversity management.
- 5 Acquire and analyse information from a wide range of sources in order to remain up-to-date on equality, diversity and inclusion related issues and incorporate this knowledge into business decisions.
