Module Content

Outline Syllabus	Studio Practice (Exhibition Studies) provides an opportunity to share, investigate and contextualise experiences of exhibition making. A series of seminars, with related readings and site-visits, address key issues and thus enable students to position their own research in relation to practice, philosophy and theory as well as professional contexts. Workshops will draw on the expertise of curators, education and technical staff at relevant institutions; students will thus be introduced to skills in the wider gallery system (proposal writing; project development/finance; budget drafting; sponsorship/ catalogue production; exhibition design; scheduling) Throughout, students develop formative content for the assessed Portfolio - which may include working proposals for their own exhibition/s and critical analysis of existing case studies. One-to-one and small group tutorials are used as a means of discussing and refining portfolio content.
